MASTER CLASSES & TUTORIALS Pr. Prunelle AYME	17/20	15,6/20	Your work shows excellent qualities in analysis and reflexion, and a very nuanced understanding of the notions covered in class. Things you can work on are: - be more precise in your arguments - use concrete examples to support your points - make sure you don't leave one aspect of the question unanswered. Participation: very dynamic participation, with always relevant, constructive and stimulating interventions. Congratulations !
ELECTIVE COURSE Discrimination Worldwide Pr. Lisa BUCHTER	18/20	16,8/20	It was great to have Francesca in this class! She had a very impressive knowledge of the theory we discussed in this class and provided many well-rounded and comprehensive overview of several topics throughout class discussions. She is not only a very serious student (and impressive reader), but she developed very thorough critical perspectives on many topics touching on discrimination. It is extremely pleasant to encounter young people with such a critical perspective on the world. Group presentation: Your presentation was extremely well thought-out and deep. I was really impressed with your "hook" and the use of testimonies as a way to bring out plural perspectives on your topic. Your argument was complex and compelling, and I appreciated your ability to be reflexive about your own perspective (what your initial thoughts on this topic were, and how reading about the topics helped you readjust your positioning). Offering clear definition of the concepts and its' different aspects in the introduction of your presentation for a lay audience would have made your work more impactful, but it was nonetheless extremely interesting and thought-provoking.
